Under the Fair Housing Act (FHA), there are two types of assistance animals: (1) Service animals, and (2) Support animals.

Service Animals: Under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), service animal is defined as any dog or small horse that is individually trained to do work or perform tasks for the benefit of an individual with a disability, including a physical, sensory, psychiatric, intellectual, or other mental disability.

Support Animals: A support animal is one that might not be trained, but does provide assistance and/or therapeutic emotional support for individuals with a disability. The animal must be a commonly kept household animal such as a dog, cat, small bird, rabbit, mouse, rat, fish, turtle or other small domesticated animal for which a reasonable accommodation may be required.

A reasonable accommodation is a change, exception, or adjustment to a rule, policy, practice, or service that may be necessary for a person with a disability to have equal opportunity to use and enjoy a dwelling.

If the tenant has a disability and disability-related need for an accommodation that is not obvious or otherwise known, the tenant must request a reasonable accommodation (oral or written) for an assistance animal and a landlord may request reliable documentation.

Act 217 of the Hawaii Revised Statutes states that fraudulent documentation or misrepresentation regarding a Service/Support animal can result in Civil Penalties and/or significant fines.

A tenant cannot be charged a higher security deposit, higher monthly rent, or be required to obtain liability insurance for a service/support animal. However, the tenant can be held accountable for any damage (interior or exterior), and must comply with established policies regarding maintenance, noise or any other reasonable restriction of the property.

Hawaii Civil Rights Commission allows for housing providers to establish reasonable restrictions on the use of an assistance animal. These reasonable restrictions are as follows: deleted "Landlords may establish...." sentence that was above #1

- 1. Observing applicable state and county laws, including leash and pick-up laws;
2. Observing applicable association regulations - except where conflicting with FHA mandates;
3. Assuming responsibility for any damage caused by the animal;
4. Having the dwelling cleaned upon vacating, by fumigation, deodorizing, professional carpet cleaning, or other appropriate methods, at tenant's expense;
5. Cleaning up of the animal's waste;
6. Having the animal licensed with the county, if required;
7. Having the animal vaccinated, with documentation of vaccinations;
8. Having the animal under the control of its handler, by use of a harness, leash, tether, cage or other physical control.
9. Having the animal meet minimum sanitary standards.
